

The camera pans around the back of Johnathan Lee Iverson, a black man in a Ringmaster's outfit, as the words "we have a story we'd like to share" pops up on screen around him. It fades to black and back to a red curtain where Jason Span as "johnny", a black man in a paperboy cap, steps out in wonder. Blurred bokeh lights transition into Vivene Espana, an Italian woman wearing a teal and maroon unitard soaring in the air as she wraps her body around a metallic hoop. Elan Espana, a Hispanic Italian man wearing a maroon and black costume, twirls with his diabolos before fading into Dominik with his trombone, which fades over a blurred Jen Bricker-Bauer spinning in the air, becoming more and more focused as Dominik fades out. A barely visible silhouette of Vivene with her arm extended out cuts to Noemi Lee Espana and Marcos Ponce Lopez tumbling backwards towards Johnny as he crouches in fear, Marcos flipping into the air. Viviene hangs in the air from a rope as silk hangs from her neck quickly cutting to Rob and Miss Jane each with a stilt in their hands, then to Miss Jane in a yellow outfit with Johnny over by the wardrobe set. Ottavio positions a crossbow and shoots it as the scene cross fades into Shenea Stiletto gracefully spinning around with her legs pointed in different directions in the air as she hand balances. Rob holds up a glass before cutting to King Charles Troop unicycling arm in arm for a split second. Poet Anna Gichan and Marcos Ponce Lopez jump up facing each other with their hands against each other. Miss Jane runs towards Rob on stilts and reaches for his arms as he grabs her and spins her in the air. Viviene is suspended in the air from the rope wrapped around her, then moves in a way that releases her body as she swirls down. Rob and Miss Jane have Johnny at the wardrobe showing him the clothes. Noemi's lower body has many silver hula hoops as she spins to keep them going, stopping in line with the music. Elan Espana takes a knee as Anna Gichan tumbles backwards. Johnny watches in amazement as Marcos Ponce Lopez holds Noemi Lee Espana in the air by holding each other's hands; behind them is chaotic, with juggling and dancing. Marcos tosses Noemi in the air and Johnny's jaw drops; Marcos catches her by her hips and everyone surrounding them is amazed. Naomi, Ottavio, Miss Jane, Anna Gichan and Bailey Anne Vincent are holding up silver hoops as Marcos runs towards them and flips his body over them all; Miss Jane's face is wide in amazement. Two members of the King Charles Troop are swinging two ropes as another member wheels over with his unicycle and starts to jump. Elan, now wearing black and silver, steps into his Cyr wheel as it transitions to Bailey Anne Vincent pulling back the curtain to reveal Jason Span on a pole. Poet Anna Gichan and Bailey Anne Vincent touch him and start his movement as he begins to spin around the pole. Anna Gichan signing in ASL is layered above video of Jason on the pole with the words "your ticket to adventure" popping on the screen as she signs. Miss Jane walking on top of green bottles with Rob watching in the background, face wide with amazement. King Charles Troop plays basketball on unicycles as one member makes a slam dunk. Jason Span dances in front of Bailey Anne Vincent, Naomi Gesmundo and Anna Gichan with his flaming red orange and yellow silk fan, contrasting their blue and white ones. Vivene Espana swings in the air as she is holding onto a rope. She slowly fades out over Noemi hand balancing and shooting a bow and arrow with her feet; when it hits the target, the video cuts to black for a second before fading into Jen Bricker-Bauer on her wheelchair. She lifts her body up in the air, which ends at her hips; while she does this, the words "that's what Omnium is doing; showing look what we can do" pop up on the screen. Jason Span spins around on a pole in the air, cross fading into Noemi hula hooping in the air as she was being lifted back down to the stage. Elan holds on to his Cyr wheel as he spins, but then lets go and continues to spin with his arms extended out. Viviene Espana hangs her body over a hoop in the air, her legs pointed upwards and her arms pointed out; as she spins, she begins to move her legs. It fades to Jen Bricker-Bauer and Dominik Bauer embraced together as they spin in the air; they smile at each other as they look upon each other with warm gazes before Jen leans back and extends her arms. Jason Span stands bathed in golden light and gazes upwards at an orange glowing ring of fire that begins to form around him; he fades out before the ring completes. A purple, red and yellow Omnium: a Bold New Circus logo fades into the center of the ring.